SKIP THE CRAP & JUMP TO FREQ TABLE

UPDATE FINALLY: It was high time in 2013, that this all time Trans Atlantic dx list was updated. It was last updated in 2010. Certainly there has been much dxing done and many many new transmissions heard here, if I don't take time out to get this job done, I never will.

I tend to have first Canadians, then American, then Central American, then Latins as a rule, though some entries may have been pasted at the bottom as the latest logs.

One difference with this update is that I have not really found the time to be as articulate and make separate coloured tables for various years / seasons. The tables are now simply coloured light grey. The initial attempts will be left as they are though. Also long gone is any attempt to list dates of logs of rarer stations in the lists. Again, very time consuming. One thing I would like though is an audio id up beside every station, preferably of the best reception hrd here.

UNIDS: I have marked any stations as Tent, Pres or UNID if there are any interesting ones. Eg espn's on 1600, and the likes. I wouldn't count them as positive ids in any numbered listing. Rather I list them here for my own convenience more than anything else. Many will only lack the ID, eg 1220 classical music is obviously MB. I also may well go back one day and try and winkle out the ids on the old recordings, so dates are handy to be able to reference.

UPDATES TO FIND: I feel sure in my logs there will be stations not listed here. But this listing is a good start. Some of my dates really need to be rooted out of the old log books and ID tape lists. It all takes time. Ideally I would like the date of the first logging of each station listed. But then that would mean rooting through old musty log books for weeks on end. There are probably typos and errors to repair too when found.

Apologies for the untidy scroll bar at the bottom of this page, which is a must for such a listing.

 Green background indicates new/ first for 2008-2009 season.

 Light Yellow background indicates new/ first for 2009 / 2010 season.

 Light RED background indicates new/ first for 2010 / 2011 season.

SILENT = Either off air, new call or changed freq.

(REGULAR) - Means heard regularly when the band is open, though no claim is made to the stn being heard every night.

UPDATED FINALLY, OCTOBER 2013
